The shocking truth about teen heroin use in Santa Clarita

In August 2011 the City of Santa Clarita held a special symposium in response to the crisis of heroin in our community. A public outreach program Heroin Kills: the High is a Lie was created.

While awareness has increased about the devastation that heroin has caused among families in Santa Clarita, one year later, the problem still exists and it's deadly.

Keeping heroin and other drugs out of our homes and schools, and away from Santa Clarita's young people, will take the entire community coming together to fight the problem. Find out what you need to know at Heroin Kills: One Year Later.
